SAW MILL BOILER EXPLODES DEALING DEATH TO THREE; ANOTHER DIES LATER.

Troy, Ala., Nov. 1.—One of the most terrible accidents ever recorded in Troy's history occurred yesterday afternoon at the saw mill of R. W. Murphy, Inc., near Huldy's Bridge. A boiler burst and the lives of three were instantly snuffed out and one other stands at death's door.

The dead are:

W. Wilson, formerly of Jesup, who had lived in Troy for some time. Cuttman Harden, son of the late Rev. Whit Harden.

George Johnson, son of Johnnie Johnson.

Mr. Langford, small, crushed and legs and arms broken and is not expected to live.

Details in regard to the bursting of the boiler will be given to the city by Miller Shipman, of Brundidge, and the bodies of Wilson, Harden and Johnson were brought to Wood's undertaking parlor to be prepared for burial.

The explosion occurred between 8 and 9:00 o'clock this morning and was heard for miles around.

According to Shipman it was possibly a boiler, being a pressure boiler and he presumed that the water pipe had burst. The bodies of Wilson and Harden were blown 100 feet in the air and the steel pipe, 10 inches in diameter, was driven fully 300 yards and it is said the mill site was wiped clean, all the brick built around the boiler being blown away.

The three men were instantly killed, being terribly mangled. No hope is held out for Langford, who was the fireman.

C. Wilson, one of those killed, formerly lived at Jesup, Ala. He is survived by his wife.

Quinton H. Hines is survived by his wife and several children. He has a brother living in Troy, Charles D. Hardin, who is employed by the P. C. Black Motor Co.

Johnnie Johnson, since, is survived by his wife and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Johnson.

The saw mill was operated by a Mr. Dyer, who formerly lived in North Alabama, and they were cutting timber at the place of Dickert-Fleming Lumber Co., of Brundidge.

Mr. C. A. Williams and family left Tuesday for their home where they go to make their home for the winter year. They have many friends who wish for them much happiness in their new place.

Miss Jeanette Garrett spent last week end in Troy, the guest of her sister, Miss Margaret Garrett.

Alabama turkeys are going to market in carboys by co-operative sale agents, and the sale will be conducted by the Farm Bureau and the county agents, and the Thanksgiving price will be higher than that received last year.

With heat which is everyday and helping you to have the pleasure of seeing all you can see, I remain, sincerely yours,
